The First Fiddle.

BY THE EGYPTIAN PREACHER

The boys were pleased with the preacher's account of Adam on a new Farm, and concluded to get him some apples After he had chunked a spell, one of the girls began to play on the melodeon The preacher asked the boys if they played the fiddle They said not

"That's right," said the preacher, "fiddles is the worst thing a young man kin play on Heart has been ruined by 'em The first fiddle made a power o' trouble, and it aint thro' yit"

"I wonder," sais one of the boys, "if the devil didn't have a hand in it

"Sartin I'll tell how 'twas After Eve driv him out o' the house, he dreamt show hisself, and he sneaked around the lots and thro' the corn fields, hopeing to get a chance to cut up more of his shines Some on 'em seed him once in a while, and told 'em to stop, but they would nor hear a word

"When the two oldest boys growed up, the range was cut out, and as they'd gone into the sheep busine s pretty stiff, they'd to drive 'em out on to the prairie and take their turns in watchin'

"Now, Abie was a good boy, and when it was his turn, he spent the time when the sheep was eatin' in readin' good books and singin' hims — But Cain was 'nother sort, and he'd do nothin' but hunt rabbits The devil soon larned this, and he come and axed Cain if he'd need any o' his sheep He didn look likens he was, but like we uns So they scraped qualntance, and it didn't take long for 'em to get purty thick

"One day, the Devil brang him a fiddle, and telled him it was the best thing ever was for killin time, and then he played him a chune So yer see, then Cain naturally feelin bad, took to the fiddle, he didn stop till he larned to play like sell When he got so's to play right peart, he tuck the fiddle hum, and they axed him where he got it He sed he made it One he allers fat fore 'nother They rooted in, and it night it was mighty funny Then he sot down and played the most for e' dancing chunes which made em feel lively After that, he went sit in the porch of an evenin and, with his hat cocked on one side, a straw in his mouth, and a bobbin' time with his foot he played the chunes the Devil larned him—Opry Reel, Mummy Mush and the Devil's Dream tho it had 'nother name then

In course the young uns soon got to dreamin' but their old dad had to stop it, for he seed where 'twas leadin' to But Cain wouldn t stop playin', and when he went out with the sheep he had the fiddle handed up to him on the hoss, and he got in a groove and sot on the saddle like a gal, so as to be ready to go after the sheep, and played away Sometimes the Devil come to give him lessons, or for to hurt him pity, and he sot on a log chawin' tobacker, for he had smoke enough in hum

Sunday afternoon, them two gentlemen had high times That was a white oak grove where the straw was left when it was threshed and where sometimes the Devil slept all night Cain bring peaches and water millions, and sweet taters, which they roasted in the ashes, and, after they had stuffed their selves, Cain got out his fiddle, and the Devil got out hisn, and they went to playin' lively as a span o' hosses in a right smart trot By m by, a young couple was seed comin' up thro' the grove a dancin', and then 'nother and 'nother, till the grove was like a ball room The fellers was good lookin and had powerful red faces and the gals was the handsomest ever seed for they wore their aprons low Who they was and whar they come from nobody knows, and when the fiddles stopped they vanished

"Abel wouldn't have my hand in the business, and he told his brother he orter not to do it Cain said it he didn't like it, he couldn't help it Then Abel went for argyin', so they got to disputin'—'tis allers bad to argy Then there was 'nother thing We all know how it turned out, O Lord a mercy, what a heap o' trouble there is in this world The trouble about young uns turns the hair gray Yes, sir, the hair turns gray if we've got 'em, and it turns gray if we must get 'em Don't nobody know anything about it till they get thar How kin they? But we won't talk about it No

"So Cain had to pack his duds and go off West Afore he went, he had a mark put on him My idy is he got the mark with the tap of a cane that was blackened in the fire place, and it spread all over and made a nigger of him That's why a nigger allers like a fiddle

"Now, ye see, if thar hadn't been no fiddle, thar wouldn't 've a been no niggers, and if thar hadn't been no niggers, the North wouldn't a gone and fit the South, and then, after that, the Dimmocrat party wouldn't a got licked"

Female Clerks in Washington.

From the Nation

The number of female employees in the Treasury Department has become so great, and many of them so inefficient, that the question of making a clean sweep of them is undergoing serious discussion at Washington A great many, probably the majority owe their appointments, not to their merits or capacity, but to the solicitation of friends, and a great many more to the mere fact that they are women, and dependent on their own exertions for support In so far as women have anything done for them in the government service which would not be done for men, or are kept in places which men would fill better, it is simply an abuse, which would assume monstrous proportions whenever women are admitted to the ballot If women are to be "emancipated" (and we think they ought to be,) they must take the burdens as well as the privileges of active free life If marriage is to cease to be their vocation any more than men's, they must compete on exactly equal terms with men in all employments and occupations, and the time has come for this rule to be faithfully remembered and rigidly enforced. The state of things, we may add, in the Treasury Department, if there be any foundation for prevailing rumors, has not been of a kind to encourage an extension of the system of employing women in large numbers in public offices.

Put Not Thy Trust in Princes.

From the Chicago Republican.

Mr. T. Z. Williams is a farmer residing a few miles from Harlam Station He is a quiet, good hearted fellow, proud of his long black beard and of being 6 feet 2¼ He loves his wife, his farm, and a quiet game of cards. He came to this city on the early train Wednesday morning to see how he could best sell some grain he had on hand, intending to return the same night

On his way up from the depot he entered a saloon on Randolph street to get a glass of ale Seated at a table there were three men playing cut throat euchre. Politely they asked him to join them and play a rubber for the beer They looked like gentlemen, he was fond of game, and he assented

During the second game his partner said, "I'd like to bet a couple of dollars at bluff Mr. Williams looked at his own hand and saw four queens and a king, so he bet $2, and "called" His partner—a Mr. Smith—showed his hand and had only threes and twos, so Mr Williams won Naturally, he felt elated He had won $2 of a city fellow

The next time Mr Smith dealt, giving Mr Williams four kings and a queen With a little tremor in his voice, Mr Williams said, "I bet $25 on bluff" That was all the money he had Mr Smith "saw" the $25 and went $25 better For a few minutes Williams was perplexed, he pondered, and at last said, "Will you consider my overcoat equal to $25?" Mr Smith said "yes," and Williams then "saw" the pile with his overcoat, and went his coat and pants better Mr Smith saw these, and went $20 better Mr Williams' vest, shirt, hat, shoes and stockings being valued at that sum, he went them, and having nothing more to bet, "called" Mr Smith.

Merrily did Mr. Williams show four kings — Right merrily did Smith show his four aces It took Mr Williams five minutes to appreciate the full force of those four aces That he did at last appreciate them was shown by his pallid cheeks and his lamblike look

Smiling right pleasantly, the winner said to him, in joyful tones, "Would you like to step in the back room and undress? I am in a hurry to go, or give me $75 now and call it square". Mr Williams tried to smile and reply, but he couldn't The thought of returning to his home dressed in a shirt collar and neck tie—that being all he had left—was too much for him Being very tall, they wouldn t cover his nakedness — He explained this little difficulty to the new owner of his clothes, who then suggested that he might have a friend here who would lend him the money or a suit of clothes

No, he knew none here Could not he trust him? He would go home and send the money by the very next mail Mr Smith told him the memory of man was treacherous That before he reached home he would forget all about it — But he could write at once to his wife to send him a check for the money, and, until that was received, he could live with him By helping around the house he could pay for his board

Not knowing what else to do, Mr Williams accepted and went home with his friend From there he wrote to his wife and asked for one hundred dollars

In the afternoon a reply came from his wife — She inclosed him a check for $100 She duly reproached him for his wicked ways, telling him he had evidently been with wicked women

He redeemed his clothes from Mr Smith and left there He did not even thank him for his hospitality Vexed with himself and wife he determined to get drunk That he did so is evident from the fact of his being found that night by a policeman trying to undress a wooden man which stood as a sign in front of a cigar shop He was instructing to himself that he would make a suit of clothes out of the affair, anyway That if a man gets dead drunk as this one was, that stripping him naked would do him good He was also cursing the way in which the man wore his clothes, they were so hard to get off Of course he was arrested

In the morning he told his story at the Police Court and showed the letter from his wife. He stated his shame and sorrow at being there, and promised it should not happen again

The Business of Women in Washington.

Female borers are now the most influential class in Washington city No shrewd or closely calculating man thinks of putting anything through a Department without the aid of a lady friend Long strings of recommendations sink into insignificance before long curls A letter of introduction to a Cabinet officer only acquires potency when countersigned by a woman's hand Diplomacy has strayed itself in petticoats The rooms of the reverend borers have been converted into boudoirs hung with gorgeous mirrors and decorated with rich tapestry, where women give to official duty all that bewitching attraction which it was once imagined would never be permitted to leave from the most private precincts of home At the White House the force of women's influence for patronage is as potent as the force of Brigham Young's authority in his harem Kenny has proven to his countrymen how adroitly he can manage a score or more of wives Andy Johnson leaves it to be understood how easily it is for any woman to gain friends at his disposal He never says no to a woman — His only trouble is, how to accommodate all who seek his favor The power of a pretty face at the White House is illimitable A well developed female form, to the mind's eye of the President, is more potent than a well digested argument from the Premier Woman reigns supreme in Washington Her rights are irresistable She occupies a place in the lobbies of Congress The rattle of her crinoline disturbs the deliberations of the courts, and her expanded skirts are only excluded from the domain of King Cuneus — Happy era of woman's rights in Washington! — It may cost the country much, but who cares? We are a progressive people and woman loves as good a right to their rights as love to [illegible] Certain it is that woman's influence on national affairs is as great as that of men, if not greater, because she rules all men

The Whisky Frauds.

From the New York Tribune.

Ninety millions of gallons of whisky were made in the United States in 1860 according to the census, while the last report of the Revenue Commissioners returned but ten millions This enormous deficiency is not to be accounted for by any decrease in either demand or supply, but solely by the fact that the tax on whisky is now two dollars a gallon The Special Committee which Congress appointed to investigate the frauds in the Revenue Department has work enough to do before it; for even if we suppose that the tax decreased the manufacture of whisky thirty millions of gallons since 1860, there would still be cause to suspect that the Treasury has been defrauded of $100,000,000 All that we have published of the frauds in this city is nothing compared to those undiscovered, yet the Committee has learned that there are three thousand small distilleries in this city where whisky is illegally made, and that Government officers protect the swindle To complete its investigation here the Committe will reassemble in New York in January, and will afterward visit the principal Western cities. The work seems as endless as that of Danaides, but even the imperfect investigation, which is all we can reasonably expect, will save millions of dollars Of more permanent importance is the effort the Committee will make to reorganize the revenue system, so as to prevent future fraud; but the discussion of methods proposed is premature before the work is done and their report submitted to Congress

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING The value of a liberal system of advertising is strikingly illustrated in the results of the annual meetings of the mutual admiration societies in honor of the Pilgrim Fathers of Plymouth Rock They have thus become known all over the world as the first settlers of every State in the Union, Sir Walter Raleigh, Captain John Smith and other anti Puritan pioneers, to the contrary notwithstanding Nothing like leather, says the shoemaker, but nothing like advertising, say the Pilgrim Fathers, and we respond, nothing like advertising —N Y Herald

Mr John Jackson, sculptor, formerly of Bath, Maine, has received a commission from the State of Rhode Island to execute a Soldiers' Monument, to be kept in Providence It is to be forty feet high, having four allegorical figures representing "Liberty," "Justice," "Valor" and "Fidelity," surmounted by a symbolical figure of Rhode Island, holding in one hand a wreath, and resting the other upon the shield of the State. It is to cost $50,000

WASHINGTON, Dec 26.

The dispatch which was copied from the Herald yesterday was undoubtedly false. It states that Mr. Seward's dispatch of the 22d ult. was never received by the French Government. The falseness of such barefaced wrong news is apparent when it is stated that the above dispatch was received, and Secretary Seward received an answer, on the 5th of December, from Napoleon, assuring the United States of the good faith of France, specifying the time when the French troops will leave Mexico, expressing satisfaction at the Campbell-Sherman mission, and proposing co-operation from France and the United States in re-establishing a Republican Government in Mexico, the United States to sustain such Government after its restoration

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, December 26.

The Petroleum market is firm with a slight amount of activity, and with a fair inquiry for the medium gravities. On Benninghoff Run buyers were offering $1 90 for 46 gr. oil while producers were holding firm at $1 90. On Pioneer Run $1 90 was freely offered for 47 gr. oil delivered on the cars. The water in the Creek has fallen within the last two days so as to admit of its being forded. Shippers have experienced some difficulty in moving their oil since the cold weather set in, on account of the pipes used for this purpose being clogged up with ice. These pipes are now thawed out, and oil can be shipped without delays.

The following sales were reported to-day: 1,000 barrels on Pioneer Run for the New York market, 47 gr. at $1 90 delivered on the cars; 300 barrels on the McElheny Farm for the Erie market 45 gr. at $2,00 at the wells; 100 barrels on Pioneer Run for the New York market 46 gr. at $1 90 at the wells; 500 barrels on Cherry Run at $1,80 at the wells; 100 barrels on Pioneer Run, 46 gr. at $1 80 at the wells; three car loads on Pioneer Run, for the New York market.

The Shipments over the Oil Creek Railroad from and Miller, Dec. 25 and 26, were as follows:

To New York, bbls	1,912
To Cleveland	913
To other points	331
Total	3,158

The amount and destination of Petroleum reported purchased to-day on the creek between Shaffer and the Hyde and Egbert Farm were as follows.

To New York, bbls	1649
To Cleveland	none
To other points	700
Total	2349

PITTSBURGH OIL MARKET.

[Special to the Morning Herald.]

PITTSBURGH, December 26

The oil market to day seems to be at a complete stand still.

Crude—Since our last report we note sales of 150 barrels dull at 9¼c. and 2,000 bbls April delivery, at 9c. The market for bulk oil on the spot, is quoted at 8@8¼c.

We quote Refined, bonded, at 29@29¼. Free oil unchanged. We quoted at 44a45c, for good standard brands.

PHILADELPHIA OIL MARKET.

The Price Current says: The market has not been influenced to any extent by the decline in Gold, but the trade is dull, and prices of Refined, in bond, may be quoted ½ cent lower—the most of the transactions were resales of former contracts. There is very little Crude here, and only 1,500 bbls sold at 19@19½ cents, and 500 bbls in bulk, from the cars, at 13@13½c. The demand for Refined has been limited, with sales of 5,000 bbls P. L. S to W. at 28¾@29½c on the spot, and 29¾ cents deliverable at the close of the month; 3,000 bbls standard white at 30@30½ cents; 5,500 bbls for January at 29¾@30c, b. o.; 1,000 bbls for February at 31c; 1,000 bbls for March at 32c, 1,000 bbls for April at 33c, 1,000 bbls for May at 34c; 1,000 bbls for June at 35c; 1,000 bbls for July at 36c, 1,000 bbls for August at 37c; 1,000 bbls for September at 38c; 1,000 for October at 79c, 1,000 bbls for November at 40c, 1,000 bbls for December at 41c, but at the close it was offered ½c below these quotations without finding buyers. Free Oil is dull at 40@50c in large and small lots. Residuum is nominal at $4@4 25—the Refiners in the West are now throwing the article away, as it will not pay at those prices.

The following are the receipts of Crude and Refined Petroleum at this port during the past week:

—The Old Folks' Concert will take place in Corinthian Hall on the evening of January 1st.

—During the past year an extensive family grocery store has been successfully conducted on the co-operative plan in Cleveland.

—Another instalment of snow came last evening, and a sufficient quantity to insure first rate sleighing, if the weather continues favorable, for some time to come.

—Major William Frew, of Pittsburgh, has been appointed by Governor Curtin a Commissioner from Pennsylvania to the Paris Universal Exposition. Major F. is now in Europe.

—A week of prayer, ordered by the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, will commence among the congregations of that denomination on the 6th (the first Sunday) of January.

—The Atlantic Hotel, formerly in charge of Mr. J. C. Maguire, is now conducted by Mr. J. W. Bolee, who was formerly clerk of the same establishment. Mr. Maguire is soon to return to New York.

—Any person having a copy of the first number of The Fair newspaper, (December 20,) is requested to leave the same with Mr. J. Warren Doty, at the store, corner of Pine and Franklin streets. Twenty copies are wanted, for which ten cents per copy will be given.

—A Roberts torpedo was exploded in well No. 272 on the McClintock Farm some time last summer, increasing the production from five to sixty barrels per day. The production having subsequently decreased, another of Roberts' torpedoes was recently exploded in the same place, increasing the production to one hundred and twenty-five barrels per day.

—The Russian Telegraph line is progressing with gratifying success. A gentleman by the name of Keenan, formerly a telegraph operator at Cleveland, and now in the employ of the Company in Siberia, writes that the fierce tribes in that region are friendly to the undertaking, that the topography of that country is highly favorable to the construction and that a residence there is not so disagreeable as has been pictured.

Under the Hammer.

The Venango Spectator, of Saturday last, is well filled with advertisements announcing the sales of the sheriff of that county, which are to take place on the 5th of January next. Many of the properties condemned consist of oil lands, thus indicating the wreck that has followed the operations of many citizens in that locality. Among the corporate companies whose property is to be knocked off under the hammer are the Budd Oil Company, Logan Oil Company, Ogden Oil Company of Philadelphia, Carey Run Oil Company, Collins Oil Company, Linden Oil Company, Susquehanna Oil Company, Green Hull Oil Company, Cleveland and Buffalo Petroleum Company, Lentz Oil Company, Hydrick Oil Company of New York, Allegheny River Coal Oil Company, M'Crea Petroleum Company, Minerva Petroleum Company of New York, East Sandy and Oil Creek Petroleum Company, Beenagin Farm Oil Company, Dick Run and Sugar Creek Oil Company, National Oil Company of Venango County, President Petroleum Company, Laytonia and Sage Run Petroleum Company.

The oil region of Venango county has proved a perfect maelstorm for Philadelphia and New York capital, swallowing it up by millions. We pity the stockholders of the thousands of companies that were organized for getting oil.—They have, in most cases, seen the last of their money, and it must be confessed, that some of them were sadly duped. Some men who were sharp, and struck early, retiring, also, in good time, are yet wealthy; but it is rather a remarkable circumstance that most of those who became suddenly rich through their operations in oil lands and companies are now no better off than when they commenced.

The business of the oil region is now being conducted more legitimately than ever before. Further care and patience on the part of those engaged in the business will tend to greater improvement and a more perfect systematizing of it, and the day is perhaps not far distant when it will be as regular and as steadily lucrative as any other pursuit. Many of the properties now being condemned for sale are doubtless subject to but trifling incumbrance, and it is the duty of those representing oil companies to see that the interests of the stockholders are not allowed to be wholly sacrificed.

Miss Caroline Hayes' Troupe.—The return of this popular Company for a brief engagement at Corinthian Hall, was greeted with an overflowing house on Christmas night. The new sensational drama, purchased by Miss Hayes for her exclusive benefit, was rendered with brilliant effect. Miss Hayes in the five different characters she assumed, displayed that versatility of dramatic talent for which she is so celebrated. Her wardrobe is perhaps one of the most costly and splendid now seen upon the American stage. She was ably sustained by Mr. P. Connoly in the part of Salvator Rosa, Mr. G. C. Davenport, the "Bowld Irish Boy," Mr. Welsh Edwards, as Antonio, the Lieutenant, Mr. Harry Hawk as Jerome or the Terrible, W. H. Briggs as Colonel Florenza. Mr. Hawk is a new addition to the company. It will be remembered by some that Mr. Hawk was a member of Laura Keene's company at Washington, playing at Ford's Theatre at the time of President Lincoln's assassination. Mr. Hawk was the only person on the stage when Booth leaped from the box to the stage, after accomplishing the murder, Laura Keene standing behind the flats at the same time. Both Mr. Hawk and Miss Keene identified Booth as he fled across the stage and made his exit from the back door. Mr. Hawk is an actor of rare comic powers, and is an additional attraction to Miss Hayes' entertainments. Last evening the Hidden Hand was rendered with capital effect, with Mrs. Welsh Edwards as Capitola, Mr. Edwards as Old Hurricane, and Mr. Davenport as Wool. The entire company were well up in their parts. To-night the sensation drama of the Dream at Sea will be presented. We hope to see an overflowing house.

Congress has taken a holiday recess, having adjourned over till the 3d of January. Meantime the Congressional railway excursion party to New Orleans are on their journey, and will doubtless learn much of the actual condition and necessities of the South before their return to Washington. The special Committee on the New Orleans riot are at work at the scene of their labors, and the other special Committee of investigation into the murder case of certain soldiers in South Carolina are en route to their destination. Lastly, it appears that a Congressional pleasure party will avail themselves of the recess, for a visit to the battle-fields around Richmond, while a large number of the members of both Houses are homeward bound for the Christmas and New Year's merry-makings.

Mr. Culver's Account of his Failure.

NUMBER II.

Mr. Culver's letter is too lengthy a document for general perusal by the newspaper public.—We, therefore, condense and sum up, as briefly as possible, its principal features of interest. Its author states that he came to the oil regions in 1861, opening his first banking office at Franklin, and successively others at Titusville, Oil City and other points, as occasion demanded, which were afterwards converted into corporate banks. This combination extended, as he says, till it embraced twenty banks and banking offices, including the central office at New York—Culver, Penn & Co. At the beginning of 1865, it appears from the letter, that Mr. C. was directing the management and employment of nearly fifteen millions of dollars. The mania of oil speculation was demoralizing in its effect upon the bank officers, the uniform success of their customers inducing them to relax their diligence in discriminating against paper made by those engaged in land operations. Mr. C. attributes his ruin to his discounting a bill for a friend who appealed to his sympathies for this accommodation. The operation was safe and the result fortunate, but it was a dangerous and, as it proved, a fatal precedent. Mr. C. was offered five hundred thousand dollars at one time for a part of the Reno Company's lands. The destruction of property by the flood of March 1865, followed by the capture of Lee's army and the sudden check to speculation, involved in ruin or embarrassment multitudes of Mr. C.'s customers, and occasioned a loss to Mr. Culver of $500,000. The project of building a town at Reno and constructing a short line of railroad was then adopted. By these enterprises Mr. C. hoped to make Reno the central commercial point of the oil regions and to secure the trade of the lower valleys of Oil Creek, Cherry Run and Pithole, then the great centres of oil production. Mr. C says he paid Mr. Thomas Hoge and Mr. James S. Myers twenty thousand dollars in cash for his railroad charter, which Mr. C. alleges was passed through the Legislature by Mr. Hoge and held for sale on speculation, nominally by Mr. Myers, for the sake of appearance, but really owned principally by these two named. If this road had been completed, as promised by the engineers, its earnings for a single season would, at the current rate of transportation, have paid the estimated cost of the road. The delay and difficulty of the construction were increased by the jealous fears and opposition of Oil City, which refused the right of way through that place, whose passage would endanger the loss of transshipment at that point. Hence the town was flanked at great expense, with difficult grades. Finally, a compromise was agreed to between the two rival companies which were competing for the same trade, the general management of the consolidated lines to be entrusted to Mr. C. as President, and fifty-one per cent. of the stock accorded to him. But though it was stipulated that no discrimination in advantages should be made in favor of or against either Reno or Oil City, yet certain citizens of the latter borough determined to defeat it. Every member of the several Boards of Directors approved of this arrangement, and it only needed the approval of the stockholders of the companies to make it binding. Mr. C. charges that to defeat the consolidation, distrust was excited in the New York house, and false and malicious rumors circulated that it had failed. The effect was that a run was instigated upon the house and it was beyond its power to stand the strain. On the 27th of March it failed. On the 29th of March, the meeting for the consolidation was appointed, and its success was certain had not the failure been precipitated as above described. One week later, Mr. Culver says he would have been entitled to receive eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the first mortgage bonds of the consolidated road, bearing seven per cent. interest in gold, with a pledge of fifty per cent. per annum of the net earnings of the road as a sinking fund for their redemption. The result of the failure was that the consolidation was not confirmed, and the Reno stock was withheld from the market. Mr. Culver states that the liabilities of his house due others besides himself, were a little over two and a half millions, and covered by a large excess of assets at cost. Mr. Culver exculpates the cashiers of the several banks in which he was interested, as well as his partners in New York, from blame or fault in the matter of his failure. He asserts that he never in his life committed any act with the intention of taking from any individual his money without a valuable consideration, never gambled or dealt in stocks nor was represented at the stock Board, and never bought a share of stock on the mere hazard of a rise. The error of his administration was what might be called a pardonable weakness, helping friends in pecuniary straights, and treating them leniently when they were unable to pay. It was the burdens he was carrying for others as well as himself, that broke him down. He says he does not remember to have collected a dollar by distress of property or at the sacrifice of the debtor. In short, it was the losses incurred by others indebted to him and the immediate inconvertibility of assets that produced the failure. The above is the summary of the causes of the failure, and Mr. C's account of the nature and extent of his responsibility therefor. We shall examine to morrow the second branch of Mr. C's letter, which reviews the course pursued by Messrs. Hoge, Myers and Kinnear towards him since his failure, and exposes the frauds and iniquities alleged to have been practiced upon him by those gentlemen, and the motives which prompted their persecution.

The New Railroad Depot.—The new Oil Creek Railroad Passenger Depot was thrown open to the traveling public on Monday last by Capt. Lyons, the ticket Agent, and a most acceptable Christmas gift it was, both to him and his patrons. The ladies' and gentlemen's rooms and the ticket office occupy the entire building. The sitting rooms are well seated, lighted, heated and ventilated, and admirably calculated to promote the comfort of passengers. The ticket office is in the form of a half circle, opening by a door and small window into the ladies' room, and by two small windows into the gentlemen's room. It displays the same complete finish, and makes a fine and comfortable office for the agent, who, together with the traveling public in this section of the country, fully appreciate the enterprise and management of Superintendent H. F. Sweetser in being thus mindful of their wants, and cordially unite in tendering him their hearty acknowledgements for his "Christmas gift."

Accident by Burning.—A few nights since, Mr. Thomas Stewart met with a rather severe accident by burning, which might have resulted fatally. Finding the fire going out, on his return home at night, he poured on some kerosene oil and then set the can upon the hearth. Shortly after the can exploded, the flames communicating to the clothes of Mrs. Stewart, who was sitting by with a child in her lap. Mr. S. instantly seized them and succeeded in smothering the flames with great difficulty, but not until their clothes were partially consumed and his own right hand badly burned, on the back. Dr. Pierce dressed the wound, but Mr. S. will be disabled from the use of his hand for several weeks.

Call at Eddy's and see their Oriental Parlor Furnace. Something new—it will heat your whole house.

Christmas Presentations.—Mr. E. H. Crittenden, the popular proprietor of the Crittenden House, was subjected to a very agreeable surprise, on Christmas day, in the form of presentations from his permanent guests. The ladies' gift consisted of an elegant rosewood stand for cigars, writing implements, &c. The gentlemen presented a substantial silver bottle-castor of the most elegant and costly description. Both articles are novelties in their way, and as ornamental to the private apartments as they are soothing to the "reveries of a bachelor." Mr Crittenden, in turn, presented to each and all of his employes (about thirty in number) some appropriate memento of the same occasion, and all who partook of his "Christmas Dinner" required no better evidence that Crittenden is still "the right man in the right place."

—Another pleasant affair transpired at the rooms of the Catholic Literary Association, the particulars of which are fully set forth in the following communication:

TITUSVILLE, December 25, 1866.

Editors Morning Herald:

This week a very interesting incident occurred—one which was pleasant to us all, and gave entire satisfaction. It was the presentation of an elegant hat and first-class gloves, together with a purse containing over $250, to our much esteemed and beloved pastor, Rev. N. Mignault. Everybody knows how admirably and nobly he has performed the arduous duties pertaining to his office.

The members of the Hibernia Catholic Literary Society assembled at their hall, invited the reverend gentleman in, and through Mr. C. Powers, followed by Mr. T. Goodwin, in very appropriate speeches, presented him with the articles above mentioned. And the congregation, as a "Christmas present," offered him the purse containing $250, as a slight token of their regard and affection. Very truly did Mr. Goodwin say: "Your valuable services, Reverend Sir, rendered to the cause of religion and education during your residence among us; your constant attendance to our spiritual welfare, move us to do this, and a hundred times more were it in our power."

To which the reverend gentleman replied:

Mr. President—Fellow Members: It is with feelings of the most sincere and undisguised pleasure that I accept this two-fold testimony of your esteem and affectionate regard for me—your address and your handsome presents. Although I am aware that both have been prompted rather by your own noble, generous and affectionate hearts than in anywise due to my merits. Yet I shall treasure them up in "Memory's Store," to be frequently recalled to my mind as a memento—the happiest of my professional life among you. You will give me due credit for sincerity, when I assure you that it needed not words nor deeds to convince me of your generosity and devotedness. The building of a magnificent church, pastorage, convent and school houses; and lately your generous offering of $1,300 towards our bells; still more recently your magnificent donation of $8,000 towards the pastorage; and to-day your present address and accompanying presents, are more than enough to cause me to feel that you do entertain for me warm sentiments and respectful regard. Rest assured that I will endeavor to continue to pay strict attention to your spiritual welware and that of your children.

Charles L. Wheeler was elected M. E. H. P.; David Crossley, K.; Albert D. Hatfield, Secretary, and Jesse A. Losee, Treasurer.

Baptist Church.—Rev. J. N. Webb, the clergyman who officiated at this church last Sabbath, will preach this Thursday evening at the brick church, corner Main and Perry streets. The public generally are invited to attend.

Holiday Sweetmeats.—Judging by the immense throng of customers at J. H. Hill's confectionary on Christmas evening, the children were not forgotten by Santa Claus. But the supply is exhaustless, and the demand for the savory titbits that tickle the palate, or the ingenious contrivances that puzzle the fancy, will not diminish for some time to come. The shelves and counters are well loaded and purchasers can always find what they require.

Advertising Agency.—We take special pleasure in commending to newspaper men the advertising agency of S. M. Pettingill & Co, of New York and Boston. During the last two years their business transactions with us have been invariably characterized by promptness and liberality, and they justly occupy the formost rank of advertising agencies in the country.

Winter, the great necessitator of overcoats, called around yesterday and issued a manifesto for an immediate supply. Not knowing where they were to be found in all the latest styles, he called on us, of the news, to give information relative to the same, whereupon we advised him to go to John J. Carter's on Franklin street, who is ready and is now offering his overcoat stock at cost—or New York wholesale prices; and as the stock is fast being depleted by the public, who are anxious to fit themselves out for the coming New Year, we enjoined friend Winter and all his tribe to call immediately. Winter being a curious chap and one who tarries when he comes, at all times, wished us to inform him where he could dress up his boys in "Christmas toggery?" Of course we referred him to Carter's advertisement, which says that children's clothing is to be sold at cost; and we further assured old frosty winter that Carter meant cost when he said it; for as sure as you live, said we, our wife tried Carter's knock down prices and found that not only the prices suited but the children's suits were so nice, that our better half took two without a word—taking care, however, that she paid "stamps," for 'tis said that you cannot get those good things without the "rocks;" and that reminds us that Carter has been receiving lots of nice fixings, that make capital Christmas gifts and New Year's presents, all of which Carter sells cheap, but not at cost. Overcoats and children's clothing only at cost. But he has just received a fine lot of underwear which beat anything in the line of low prices. Just read and grow fat.

Undershirts and drawers for seventy-five cents to one dollar and a half a piece or pair, and grades of all kinds to meet the wants of the fastidious, both in price, style, and texture.

We had forgotten to call attention to the splendid assortment of hats and caps, new fur caps and collars, with an untold number of other styles, made to fit the small and great, either of high or low estate, o-r, o-r, a-n-d s-o f-u-r-t-h. Call at CARTER'S for your Gents' Furnishing.

Frantic Runaway.—The cause of the excitement in the city yesterday we will relate in a few words. And here we give our thanks to the police for their skill in working up the case. We suppress names, as the parties are very respectably connected. The affair occurred on Saturday last, a little before four o'clock p. m.; it might have been a little later. The horses were a matched bay-team, drawing an elegant sleigh, with robes and bells, and the parties were a dashing young man and a lovely young lady of some eighteen summers. Even at Crittenden's everybody looked at them, but they came down Spring street at headlong speed. A well known ex oil operator made a rush at the horses' heads, but it was all in vain—the lady almost screamed with joy as the horses dashed round the corner of Franklin street and came to a dead halt in front of Livingston & Guild's fish and oyster depot, Petroleum Bank Block.

The young man, as it turned out, had heard that Livingston and Guild had got their holiday stock of XXX oysters, and the young lady would give him no peace until he had got some for Christmas and New Years. It was an affecting scene. A vast crowd assembled without and helped carry the XXX oysters to the sleigh. They all joined in the chorus, "We never saw choicer brands of oysters."

Sing oysters, O!

Once Again.—To the ladies and gentlemen of Titusville and surrounding country.—I have been burned out three times in Titusville, and my late losses compelled me to close business. I have now formed a partnership in my old business with Mr. P. M. Guild and we have opened an oyster and fish depot on Franklin street, in the Petroleum Bank Block, two doors north from the Titusville Mills, at the stand known formerly as Terhune & Co.'s produce and oyster depot. Thankful for past patronage we respectfully solicit a continuance of the same from old friends and new.

Titusville, Dec. 24, 1866. Livingston & Guild.

What is finer than one of Mather's sets of Stereoscopic Views? It is like exhibiting the whole oil region in a nut shell.

Coal.—After an experiment with Austin-Duster, Spear's Patent Stove, there are some parties in this city that have found that the price of coal is not $4 per ton, for the coal dealers still continue to insist that they must have an eleven dollar bill for a ton of A No. coal.—Stoves are decidedly cheap this year. We don't intend to sell stoves at cost, but will sell ten per cent. cheaper than any other parties in the city who propose to sell at cost. F. H. Eddy & Co.

Furniture at Cost.—I am closing out my present large stock of furniture at cost. For instance, I will sell a set of cane-seat chairs for $7.50; walnut and cherry tables for $5.00, and so on through the whole list in this proportion. Call and see for yourselves, at John Farel's.

All kinds of parlor furniture, at Myers'

A Card.—The firm of Russ & Farel having dissolved, the undersigned would respectfully announce that he may now be found at the extensive Furniture Emporium of S. J. Myers (Page's old stand), 66 Spring street, where he will be happy to show his friends and the general public any style of goods appropriate to this line of trade. Prices have been greatly reduced, as buyers can readily ascertain on examination. W. W. Russ.

Great Fire in Titusville!—Man seen on a dead run with a black carpet bag labeled U. S.; last seen of him was on Franklin street, looking for that large gallon measure, marked "U. S (ain't I honest)."

Bring on your measure and your cans, and if you don't get more oil of Olmsted & Jewhurst for forty-five cents, than you can at the great Emporium of Honesty, dealt out in small quantities, we will make you a present of the oil. Remember, we sell one gallon of oil for forty-five cents, and guarantee the measure. No gilt letters Olmsted & Jewhurst.

N. B.—We don't burn gas

Housekeepers!—If you want good flour, warranted to give perfect satisfaction, you can find it at H. L. Hershberg & Co's, every time. If the flour is not satisfactory you can have your money refunded.

I Don't Spout Gas—But I do sell full measure oil for fifty cents per gallon and don't need watching by my customers. Remember, I have no short measure at forty five cents, or less. Look out for men on Spring street, with defective measures in carpet-bag, and for fear of exposure, inviting the public to bring their own measures. The United States brand is always O. K. There's no discount on Uncle Sam. E. Ralpe.

N. B.—My oil is non explosive, and there'll be no more fires on Franklin street.

Furs! Furs!—The Jamestown Store has on hand a beautiful assortment of furs, bought within the past week, and consequently since the great crash in prices in New York, and will sell them at lower prices than any other house in the oil region can afford to; in fact, they will be sold at lower prices than any house in this region has bought at this season. Those who have noticed the great changes in prices of goods for the past three weeks know that this is no vain boast, but can and should be done. I will sell full sets best mink (three stripes) for $65; others charge $110 and $125. Also best mink (four stripes) for $75; others charge you $145 and $160.

Agents for C. H. Harris's History of Venango Oil Region are Blackmon & Nicholson, Petroleum Centre; Wright & Farnsworth, Boyd Farm and Pioneer; S. S. Pinkerton, Pioneer; Hurd & Co, Titusville; and A. L. Holt, Tarr Farm.

Everybody should visit Myers' furniture warerooms.

You can find the largest and choicest stock of goods in Western Pennsylvania, most of which have been bought within the past week, and consequently since the great reduction of prices in New York, all of which will be sold forty per cent. lower than can be had elsewhere.

Their mode of treatment is entirely different from that of other physicians and founded upon entirely new principles. They each have a large electric medical apparatus, which is not a proper battery, as it produces no shock, but is designed to distract and scatter disease, and with the use of medicine, drive all disease before it, also strengthen and vitalize the system. It may be used for six different medical purposes. It has been tested by over three thousand patients in Jamestown, New York, who all expressed their gratitude at being relieved of their sufferings. All those who are afflicted are invited to call, as it will cost nothing for an examination. They design remaining in town about a month. dec27d1t*

Snow's Patent Liquid Packing Pump for Oil Wells.—This celebrated "Pump" having been most successfully and generally used in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and bearing a fame unsurpassed for its durability and wear and the general good results of its application, doing away with leather and all other flexible packing, thereby avoiding the perplexities of a leather packing valve, and having all the advantages of other pumps and valves in bringing and keeping up the production of oil, I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I am now prepared to furnish any demand for these Pumps at the shortest notice. Below I give a few of the numerous testimonials I have received in their favor, and also "by permission," refer for information as to their durability, and general good results to H. W. Faucett, Superintendent of Philadelphia Petroleum Company, using them in every pumping well belonging to the Company; W. J. Runcle, Superintendent of lease 23, Benneloff Run; J. P. Fowler, Superintendent of New York & Chicago Petroleum Company; C. L. Wlmont, Church Run; Wm. Spence, Benneloff Run, Mr J. Hoope, Superintendent of Benneloff Run Petroleum Company; E. L. Pitcher, Superintendent of National Oil Company; C. H. Page, Superintendent Ocean Oil Company.

TESTIMONIALS.

West Pithole, Pa, Nov. 21, 1866.
William B. Snow, Esq.—Dear Sir: In answer to your request for my experience with your pump, I cheerfully state that I have used one of them for about two months and have found them entirely reliable, having performed all the requirements that was claimed for them.

The entire absence of leather packing and consequent lessening of friction in the working barrels makes the strain on the sucker rods much less, which is a great consideration in pumping deep wells, and I cheerfully recommend them to those having such.
Yours, respectfully, Edwin L. Pitcher,
Superintendent National Oil Company.

Benneloff Run, Nov. 21, 1866.
W. B Snow—Dear Sir: In reply to yours, asking for a "correct" statement as to the use of your pump on this farm, I cheerfully certify that on the 15th of August last I applied one of your pumps to well 26, belonging to the Benneloff Run Petroleum Company, which had been pumping four weeks with a brass working barrel and "casing," about forty barrels a day. On the application of the "Snow Pump" the well increased to over one hundred barrels per day, and has been pumping at that rate ever since without ever having the drawn the sucker rods to this date.

I also certify that I have three of your pumps in my own wells, viz: Nos. 61, "34" and 2, which have worked to my entire satisfaction, giving little or no trouble with drawing sucker rods. No. "34" is this morning producing at the rate of one hundred barrels per day.
Yours, very truly, Wm Spence.

Orders for these Pumps will be filled by addressing BRYAN, DILLINGHAM & CO., Sole Manufacturers, Titusville, Pa., and forwarded by express to all parts of the oil regions.

FOR SALE

At a price that may prove a fortune for any one purchasing it. Only a VERY SMALL PORTION of it has been at all tested for oil, and NONE, according to the present improved mode, leaving that portion of it through which the Great Oil Belt, according to the theory of some, is supposed to run (and which recent development in the vicinity to some extent seems to indicate) entirely undeveloped and not drained of its oil like most other territory through which this Great Belt passes.

Also one twelve horse-power Todd & Rafferty Engine and Boiler, admitted by all who have seen it to be the best one in the oil regions. Also a Well Rig, nearly complete. For further particulars enquire of Heretofore we have in our circulars, alluded to a series of experiments then, made with Nitro Glycerine and other explosives. We now announce that we have succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine expectations as regards the safety ofhandling, also the unprecedented force an power manifested by a skillful combination whereby the size of the Torpedo is lessened, and the force many times multiplied and are now prepared to operate on wells with any of the above named explosives—either with our Improved combination of our old Combination Torpedo, which has a record of utility too well known to need mention here.
